

Scholarship for Local Student

CAROLYN MILLICAN

Carolyn Ann Millican, daughter of T. J. Millican of Hope, is among 73 high school graduates and college students awarded Arkla Scholarships for the 1967-68 college year by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company.

W. R. Stephens, Little Rock, president and chairman of the board of Arkla, said that the scholarship winners are all sons and daughters of employees of the gas company and its subsidiaries.

The scholarships are awarded on the basis of character, leadership, scholarship, and financial need. Each student winning an Arkla Scholarship will receive $350 from an annual fund established from contributions by employees and the company.

Miss Millican is a graduate of Hope high school where she was member of the National Honor Society. She will attend Henderson State College to major in art and social studies for a teaching career.

Her father is an employee with Arkla's gas transmission division.

Michigan Bars the Miniskirts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Hems fiked higher. Eyebrows slipped up. The boom fell.

Michigan's Department of State has banned miniskirts on employees.

"We feel justified in asking that they not wear so-called abbreviated miniskirts," said James F. Hueni Jr., personnel director for Secretary of State James M. Hare.

"I understand these things are distracting to some men," he said.

Hueni said both male and female workers objected when two or three girls showed up at the office in "skirts so short that eyebrows were lifted."

appeared into the woods.

The woman told officers she ran and walked about one-half mile through the woods to a small gravel road. She followed the road to Summerhill and Amis Roads where Texas Police Chief Bill Hughes and Assistant Chief Harold McGee saw her.

Hughes said they spotted the girl walking back towards Interstate 30 about 11:35 p.m. Hughes said, "she was scared to death."

More than 40 law enforcement officers including city police, Bowie County Sheriff's Deputies, Texas Highway Patrolmen, Border Patrolmen and members of the Texarkana Sheriff's posse surrounded the area.

The search continued throughout the night but officers reported Sunday afternoon that they had been unable to come up with anything.

Chief Hughes said part of the woman's clothing was found about 30 feet from where the couple had been parked. He said the camera the Negro reportedly used was also recovered.

A check this morning revealed officers were still looking for the abductor but nothing new had developed.

Lynda Bird to Be Married to Captain

By FRANCES LEWINE WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House wedding in early December is planned for Lynda Bird Johnson and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, who met the President's daughter in the line of duty.

Smiling, holding hands, the young couple flew back from Texas Sunday night aboard the presidential jet plane after President and Mrs. Johnson announced their engagement from the LBJ ranch.

Lynda, 23, the Johnsons' older daughter, showed off her sparkling diamond engagement ring, but ignored photographers' requests to kiss her 28-year-old fiancé, a tall, slender, dark-haired young man from Milwaukee, Wis.

The surprise announcement of Lynda's engagement ended continued speculation over the romantic interest of the president's daughter. She had numerous beaux through the years and broke an engagement to a young Navy lieutenant three years ago.

Until Robb came along, Lynda had been dating Hollywood actor George Hamilton more than a year ago. A few weeks ago, though, Hamilton declared "marriage is not in the immediate future."

Robb, who plans to make the Marines his career and is scheduled to go to Vietnam in February, first met Lynda a little more than a year ago when he was assigned to the White House as a military social aide. She called on him to make a fourth at bridge for a third floor solarium card game.

They didn't start dating steadily, though, until the past four months.

There was excitement and happiness in the Johnson family over Lynda's news, and her younger sister, Luci, 20, now Mrs. Patrick J. Nugent and mother of an 11-week-old son, shared it.

In Milwaukee Robb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Robb, said Chuck told them about a month ago he'd "decided to take the big step."

"He swore me to utter secrecy," Mrs. Robb told newsmen.

The young Marine's father, an airline sales executive, said, "we were worried that he was going to be a confirmed bachelor all his life."

The romance between Lynda and the young marine attracted attention in recent weeks as they spent weekends on the beach at nearby Rehoboth Beach, Del., and were constantly photographed.

gaining to see light at the end of the tunnel."

On the roles of U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in the war, Lt. Gen. Thieu said:

"I believe that it is a mistake saying that only American troops are fighting the war and the Vietnamese troops are doing less. We have two missions. I believe it is better to give the American troops more of the mission of heavy fighting and more to the Vietnamese troops the mission of pacification."

Pacification is the work of guarding villages under government control while workers for the government's "revolutionary development" program try to win the villagers' allegiance to the Saigon government.

U.S. troops in recent years have taken over the brunt of the fighting but South Vietnamese forces also have failed repeatedly to give the necessary protection to the pacification teams.

Thieu has said he expects to be inaugurated about Oct. 1 and that his peace offerings to North Vietnam would be made 7 to 10 days afterward.

Hanoi's official Communist party newspaper, meanwhile, called U.S. efforts to seek peace in Vietnam through United Nations action part of a "deceitful policy about 'peaceful negotiations.'"

Hurricane Already Has 16 Victims

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Beulah struck the Barahona Peninsula of the Dominican Republic with 125 miles an hour winds today and threatened eastern Cuba.

Beulah already had left 16 dead in the eastern Caribbean and a report from Barahona said 1,000 were homeless there.

This morning Beulah was about 90 miles southeast of Port Au Prince, Haiti, and just off the eastern edge of Barahona Peninsula, some 830 miles southeast of Miami.

The thundering storm skirted Santo Domingo, the Dominican Republic's coastal capital, with its most intense winds which raged to more than 125 miles an hour.

But gale force winds and heavy rains hit Santo Domingo Sunday night as they did parts of Puerto Rico earlier Sunday.

Danger still remained for the Dominican Republic's Barahona Peninsula. The forecast called for Beulah to go inland on the peninsula to the southwest of Santo Domingo and cross the country into Haiti which shares the island of Hispaniola.

Hurricane Flora tore through Haiti—an economically poor Negro nation—in October of 1963 on its way to Cuba. Flora was blamed with killing 6,000 persons.

A hurricane watch was posted for Cuba early today.

"It poses a threat to southeastern Cuba if it continues on its forecast track," said Joseph Pellissier, a forecaster in the National Hurricane Center in Miami.

Meanwhile, Hurricane Doria churned along the East Coast of the United States on a course expected to take her 250 miles east of the Virginia Capes. Hurricane Chloe swirled across the Atlantic more than 1,000 miles east-southeast of Bermuda still days from land, and in the Pacific tropical storm Lily brought forecasts of rain and high winds for Southern California and Mexico's state of Baja California.

Beulah dealt Puerto Rico's south and west coasts punishing slaps—taking one life and smashing at least a dozen homes—before charging across the Caribbean toward the Dominican Republic.

All Talks of Blue-eyed Whites

NEW YORK (AP)—Cassius Clay told a Harlem audience of nearly 1,000 Sunday that Allah sent Elijah Muhammad, the Black Muslim leader, "to teach you who you are, so you can separate and he can kill the white man."

No Authority in Pulaski, Court Rules

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that no legal authority existed for holding a special election to name a new Pulaski County judge.

The court, in upholding a ruling by Circuit Judge Tom Digby, nullified Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's call for an election Nov. 7 to name a county judge.

Arch Campbell, the incumbent, did not seek re-election to a new term last fall, but continued in office when Judge-elect Tom Guiley drowned Thanksgiving Day.

The Supreme Court said there could be no special election in the absence of legislative action. He said the legislature had enacted no procedure under which the election could be held and added that the Constitution does not specifically order an election under the circumstances nor fix any time for an election.

The court cited an earlier opinion in which it overturned Robert O. Justice's appointment to the position in early January by former Gov. Orval Faubus. The court said then that impetuous legislation was necessary.

Mrs. Arthur Strech, organist played a program of nuptial music and accompanied the vocal soloist, Miss Gayle Williams, who sang "Because" early in the service and "The Lord's Prayer" at its conclusion as the couple knelt on a prie-dieu.

The candlelight ceremony was conducted at an altar flanked by baskets of white stocks and glads. Greenery and white ribbons marked the family pews. The candles were lighted by Ronnie and Larry Massanelli. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length dress of traditional white. The peau de sole skimmer was a lace cage with long sleeves ending in lily points over the hands. The removable scalloped lace waist was attached to the shoulders and swept into a cathedral train. The over-the-face single-tiered veil was held in place by a peau de sole butterfly bow. She had "something old, new, borrowed, and blue with a sixpence in her shoe." She carried a white lace covered testament on which was pinned her bridal bouquet of split mums, lemon leaves, and a white orchid.

Mrs. Wendell Light of Monticello was the bride's only attendant. She wore a full-length dress of pink moire, and her circular veil was held in place by a single pink rose. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses tied with rose-colored streamers. Wendell Light of Monticello served the groom as best man. Ushers were Honnie Kidd, brother of the bride and Raymond Powell. Mrs. Kidd, mother of the bride,

Bobcats to Get Ready for DeQueen

By RALPH ROUTON
Star Sports Writer

A new day, a new week. Still, the scars of the Hope Bobcats' defeat at the hands of the Prescott Curley Wolves will be felt for a long time.

Last Friday must be forgotten, though, as this week brings forth a new opponent: the DeQueen Leopards. Some personnel changes will most likely occur within the Hope camp, as injuries are taking away good football players at a critical rate.

The Bobcats have this week's non-conference foe, then Hope enters a little spree in which we take on AAA opponents Smackover, Crossett, Malvern, Magnolia, and Fairview on successive weeks.

With all the spirit and enthusiasm behind the Bobcats in Hope High School, alone, one cannot justifiably say that the season is already over. It isn't.

We still have plenty of material to form the nucleus of a championship team. Junior Jerry McWilliams leads a throng of powerful rushers, with eight carries for 103 yards against Prescott. John Henley, David Fincher, Billy Gibson, and Gary Golden back up the line, which has shown marked improvement. Senior Mike Murphy turned in a fine performance shutting with Jerry Sanders at split end. Nevertheless, we will continue to have to cope with problems.

Head Bobcat coach Freddie Glaze will give an injury list in greater detail on the Coach's Corner tomorrow.

Cinderella Story Fades for Broncos

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Anybody want a slightly used slipper? "Check?" The one the Denver Broncos have been wearing for the last month suddenly doesn't fit so well any more.

The Cinderella story the Broncos, dormrats of the American Football League last season, had been re-enacting for the last four weeks came to an unscheduled end Sunday as Denver was decimated by the Oakland Raiders 51-0.

The Broncos lost their first exhibition game, but then went on to slash through four foes, including National Football League opponents Detroit and Minnesota as well as these very same Raiders. In their regular season opener against Boston last week, the Broncos won again.

What happened between last week and this remains a question for Coach Lou Saban to struggle with in the coming days.

"They just kicked the stuffing out of us," Saban said. "What else can you say?"

In another AFL game Sunday,

BUS MOSBACHER, an old hand at retaining the America's Cup, will skipper the Intrepid against Jock Sturrock and Dame Pattie, the Australian challenger, in the world championship sailoff starting Sept. 12 off Newport, R.I. In 1962 Mosbacher guided Weatherly to victory over Sturrock and Gretel.

Giants in Second, 10 1/2 Games Out

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The string didn't run out on Gaylord Perry. He pulled it himself.

Perry, San Francisco's strong-armed right-hander, beat the Chicago Cubs 2-1 Sunday with a three-hitter. But his string of successive scoreless innings was broken at 40... Just 6-1-3 Innings short of Carl Hubbell's National League record.

"I'm sorry it had to happen, but I'm glad I have no one to blame but myself," said Perry, whose two-base throwing error in the seventh inning set up the Cubs' run.

The Giants' eighth victory in nine games lifted them into second place, 10 1/2 games behind St. Louis' runaway leaders, who were beaten by Pittsburgh 8-7, and one-half game ahead of the Cincinnati Reds, who trimmed the New York Mets 5-2.

Philadelphia slammed Atlanta 10-5 and Los Angeles split a doubleheader with Houston, winning 4-1 before bowing 1-0 in 11 innings, in other NL action.

The Chicago White Sox swept an American League doubleheader from Detroit, 6-0 on Joe Horlen's no-hitter and 4-0, while Minnesota topped Baltimore 4-2. Boston trounced the New York Yankees 9-1, Washington nipped California 3-2 and Kansas City beat Cleveland 5-2 after losing the twin bill opener 1-0.

Perry, whose previous three starts had produced two shutout victories and a 16-inning scoreless stint without a decision, breezed past the Cubs until the seventh, when Ron Santo drew a leadoff walk.

The Giants pitcher then fielded Ernie Banks's tap to the mound and went to second for a force play... only to have his throw sail into center field as Santo sped to third. Santo then scored as Bob Randman grounded into a double play.

The error cost Perry a shot at the 34-year-old record set by Hubbell, the former Giants ace who now directs the club's farm system. But the slender fireballer can take solace in a late sport that has boosted his season mark to 13-15 while lowering his ERA to 2.75.

Maury Wills lashed a two-run triple in the eighth inning and scored on an infield out, capping a four-run uprising that carried the Pirates past St. Louis.

Lee May cracked a two-run homer and winning pitcher Jim Maloney's RBI single climaxed a decisive two-run burst in the fifth inning, leading the Reds' attack at New York.

Tony Gonzalez collected three hits and Cookie Rojas slugged the first grand slam homer of his career as the Phillies outscored Atlanta to give Jim Bunning his 17th victory.

Jim Wynn earned Houston a split at Los Angeles and took over the league home run lead by slamming his 36th of the year in the 11th inning of the nightcap. Bo Belinsky, who pitched nine brilliant innings, and winner Dave Eilers limited the Dodgers to three hits.

The Dodgers struck for four runs in the seventh inning of the opener to overcome a 1-0 Houston lead and give rookie Bill Singer his 11th victory in 17 decisions.

Consistency Not There, Says Broyles

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — University of Arkansas football Coach Frank Broyles complained of inconsistency on offense Saturday after sending the Razorbacks through a closed scrimmage.

"We stressed our passing game and had six or seven passes intercepted," Broyles said. "No consistency at all."

"We're so inexperienced it's hard to develop any consistency and this has been disappointing," Broyles continued. "We've also had injuries and this compounds the problem."

Quarterback Ronny South returned Saturday after missing practice all week because of a sprained ankle. Broyles said South was a little off target during the practice.

Broyles said nose guard David Cooper and defensive tackle Alvin Jones looked good in the scrimmage, and that fullback Glenn Hockersmith and wingback David Dickey performed creditably on offense.

Buffalo beat New York 20-17 and, in an NFL exhibition, Cleveland pounded Minnesota 42-14.

On Saturday, Kansas City beat Houston 25-20 and San Diego took Boston 28-14 in regular season AFL games.

In NFL exhibitions Saturday, New Orleans took Atlanta 27-14, Baltimore crushed Dallas 33-7, Chicago shut out Philadelphia 14-0, Green Bay beat New York 31-14, Washington shaded Pittsburgh 16-10, and Los Angeles downed San Francisco 34-7.

The destruction of the Broncos was as complete as it was surprising. Making only two first downs, the club was held scoreless for the first time in its 77-game history and suffered its most lopsided defeat.

Quarterback Darlye Lamoni directed the Raiders to five touchdowns and George Blanda guided them to another and a field goal. Warren Powers added yet another with a 36-yard runback of a pass interception.

Buffalo pounded the Jets for a 20-point last quarter, finally winning on Mike Mercer's 43-yard field goal with four seconds left in the game.

Newcombe Would Listen to Pro Offer

By WILL GRIMSLEY
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — John Newcombe, now the world's top amateur tennis player, hasn't had any pro offers yet but he admits he'll answer the telephone.

"Sure, I'm interested in pro tennis — that's where the future of the game is," said the 23-year-old Sydney star, who Sunday added the American title to his Wimbledon championship.

Newcombe, latest in the never-ending chain of net champions from Down Under, won the U.S. crown by beating Clark Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, 6-4, 6-4, 8-6.

Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., also a winner at Wimbledon, ended a six-year dearth of American winners in the women's division by beating Ann Haydon Jones of Britain 11-9, 6-4.

Horlen capped a weekend of flamboyance for Chicago and Detroit by pitching a no-hitter and beating the Tigers 6-0 in the first game of a Sunday doubleheader. The White Sox completed the sweep with three pitchers sharing the five-hit 4-0 nightcap victory.

The two victories moved Chicago into a third place tie with the Tigers, who only 24 hours earlier held on to a place of the American League lead by rallying for seven runs in the ninth inning and a 7-3 victory over the Sox. The late-inning heroics were tough to top but Horlen did.

The quietly efficient Minnesota Twins, meanwhile, remained in first place with a 4-2 victory over Baltimore, and Boston clung to second place by beating New York 9-1. The Red Sox are one-half game behind Minnesota and Chicago and Detroit both stand 1 1/2 games off the pace.

In other American League games Sunday, Washington rallied for three ninth inning runs and a 3-2 victory over California and Cleveland split a doubleheader with Kansas City, winning 1-0 before losing 5-2.

In the National League, Cincinnati tripped New York 5-2, Philadelphia pounded Atlanta 10-5, Pittsburgh nipped St. Louis 8-7, San Francisco edged Chicago 2-1 and Los Angeles split a doubleheader with Houston winning the first game 4-1 and dropping the nightcap 1-0 in 11 innings.

"I knew the importance of this game," said Horlen after his masterpiece. "If we lose this one, we're really down mentally. Especially after yesterday. We were the deadead I've seen us all year."

So the 30-year-old right-hander methodically went about reviving the corpse. He allowed only two base runners, one on an error, the other on a hit batsman.

The White Sox gave him a quick five-run edge in the first inning, with Wayne Causey's two-run triple, the key blow. It was Causey who threw out Jerry Lumpe in the ninth inning for Horlen's closest call.

Lumpe lashed the ball through the box and Causey went behind second base to throw him out. "I just knew I had to get the ball," Causey said later. "I thought after that maybe I should have straightened before throwing off balance. I thought the ball got

Horlen in No Hitter for Chisox

Punting Rule Has Coffey Concerned

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Charlie Coffey is as concerned as anyone about the new National Collegiate Athletic Association punting rule.

The rule, which goes into effect this fall, requires interior linemen of the punting team to remain on the line of scrimmage until the ball is kicked.

Coffey, who is responsible for the nose-guard and tackles in the University of Arkansas' monster defense, discussed Sunday night some of the situations that might arise.

"We've spent a lot of dimes on long distance phone calls, trying to find out what other folks are going to do," he said at a dinner for the touring Southwest Conference Sports Writers. "We'll have a slight advantage since we'll get to see what some of the teams do this week."

The Razorbacks open their season Sept. 23 at Little Rock against Oklahoma State.

"The punting rule is the last thing we discussed when we left the fieldhouse Saturday," Coffey said. "There's a couple of the America's Cup

By WM. T. McKEOWN
NEA Boating Editor

NEWPORT, R.I. — (NEA) — All things being equal — but they never are — the best crew should clinch the world's championship sailoff that starts Sept. 12 against the Australians.

Intrepid, winner of elimination trials this summer, defends the America's Cup against Dame Pattie, Australia's challenger in the 116-year-old series. The United States has never lost.

The two boats are supposed to be the same, although all designing, building and materials must come from the sloop's home country. Specifications show Pattie 65-feet 2-inches long to Intrepid's 64-feet, but then Intrepid wears 1,850 square feet of measured sail area to the Dame's 1,795. And even these are round figures from secretive naval architects who make only roundabout statements until their boat wins four out of the seven 24.3-mile races.

Nothing aboard a 12-meter yacht equals 12 meters. Instead, the number is the total from a long formula that weighs importance for length, sails, ballast and other factors. It challenges any designer to add something new without subtracting from the 12 possible miles an hour of his wind machine.

Everything aboard an A-Cup boat equals money. And concerted effort. The 11-man amateur crews aren't paid for a summer of cheerful slavery, but the owners still pour three-quarters of a million dollars, not tax deductible, into the building and campaigning of each boat. That's one good reason why the races are held only every three years at the most.

For their money, the American and Aussie backers can join the spectator fleet bobbing in the Atlantic off Rhode Island. They'll see, and possibly even hear, the boisterous crew from Down Under. In 1962 when Australians aboard Gretel caught a wave and surfed ahead in the third race, as they learned to do off Sydney, they let out a yell that could be heard across half a mile of rumbled water.

But it was only one win to four defeats. That time, too, it was a duel between the same skippers: Jock Sturrock steering Gretel against Bus Mosbacher at the winning helm of Weatherly.

No one will hear from Mosbacher's American crew on Intrepid. Some may never see them. Designer Olin Stephens has hidden them all below deck to provide more ballast and less windage as they work. Only Mosbacher's shrewd head and determined grin will show as he seems to sail a ghost ship and gives fist signals through a cockpit hatch to the slaves below.

Four huge handles of a $20,000 winch called the coffee-grinder will be spun by his undercover men to trim Intrepid's tall sails. Zigzag tacking to windward on the three vital legs of the six-leg triangle course, the American crew disappears. Running before the wind, they're suddenly up on deck to add a fraction of extra push from the breeze on their backs.

Another Sparkman & Stephens innovation is the double wheel Mosbacher will use to steer two rudders — one ahead of the other. Experience from three other successful cup de-

Nicklaus's Earnings $228,000

By JOE MOOSHIL
AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus is a proud man and because of his fierce pride he again is the World Series of Golf champion.

Nicklaus captured his third Series trophy and the top prize of $50,000 Sunday when he shot a 37-33 — 70 for a 36-hole total of 144 and a one-stroke victory over Masters champion Gary Brewer.

But his triumph was forged out of disgust with himself after shooting a four-over-par 74 in Saturday's first round rainstorm to trail the field.

Instead of calling it quits Saturday, the wet and chilled Nicklaus went out to the practice tee and hit golf balls until darkness forced him to quit.

"I had played like an idiot Saturday," said Nicklaus. "I have too much personal pride to allow myself to play that badly. I didn't care how much it rained, I had to figure out a way to hit the ball solidly again."

For the final round Nicklaus came out trailing British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo by four strokes. Brewer by three strokes and PGA titlist Don January by one.

In the face of 25-40 35 mile-an-hour winds, Jack matched Firestone's par of 35-35 — 70, bagging five birdies in the process. Brewer finished second and earned $15,000 with a 38-36 — 74 and a 145 total. De Vicenzo took third money of $7,500 with 39-37 — 76 and 146 while January shot a 38-40 — 78 and 151, settling for $5,000 in the playoff of champions.

Nicklaus, who heads the official money list with $156,000 this year, now has boosted his unofficial golf earnings for 1967 to $228,000.

things you can do.

"We've talked about lining up tight from end to end, and then splitting awingback and a split end to one side. If the ball was on the left hash mark, we could split those two men to the wide side of the field and kick to that side.

"If you keep everybody in tight to protect the kicker, you're taking a chance of a long return. But if you spread everybody out, you're taking a chance on getting the punt blocked."

Some coaches have talked about punting out of bounds, and others have discussed kicking from placement.

Miss America Title to Kansas Girl

NEW YORK (AP)—"Just look at all the tall buildings," exclaimed Debra Dene Barnes, the new Miss America, as she got her first glimpse of New York.

Things looked a lot different in her home town, Moran, Kan.—population 550.

The 20-year-old blue-eyed brunette—5-foot-9—135 pounds—and 38½-24-36½—is here on the first stop of about 200,000 miles she will travel during her year-long reign.

She arrived by car Sunday night from Atlantic City, N.J., where she was crowned Saturday night in the windup of the Miss America Pageant.

Miss Barnes, who checked into a midtown hotel with the four ladies of her court, told newsmen she would "love to go" to Vietnam to entertain U. S. troops as her predecessor, Jane Anne Jayroe, did. There were no immediate plans for that, however.

Asked at a news conference in Atlantic City what she would do if she suddenly had $1 million, Miss America, a music major in college, said: "I would buy a grand piano and donate the rest to research for multiple sclerosis."

Her mother, Mrs. Dwight Barnes, was stricken with the crippling muscle disease 11 years ago and has been bedridden in a hospital at Fort Scott, Kan., for the last 2½ years.

The new Miss America is a junior at Kansas State College at Pittsburg. After college she wants to teach piano at the college level and play in concerts. She received a $10,000 scholarship for winning the title and will earn an estimated $90,000 in personal appearance fees.

Auto Strike Going Into Fifth Day

By KIT KINCADE
DETROIT (AP)—Bargainers for both the United Auto Workers and the Ford Motor Co. meet today to discuss the possibility of resuming negotiations as the strike by 160,000 UAW members against Ford entered its fifth day.

There was no indication whether the get-together, termed "a kind of probing meeting" by one union source, would mean a quick return to the bargaining table.

Ken Bannan, director of the UAW's Ford Department, represents the union and Sidney F. McKenna, Ford director of labor relations, the company.

Earl Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, predicted that the nation's No. 2 automaker would not be interested in serious negotiating until its supply of new cars ran out.

The company says its supply of 85,000 1968-models ready for introduction Sept. 21 will last about 30 days.

Some 700 people attended a rally Sunday night in Detroit's Cobo Hall sponsored by the International Society of Skilled Troop 91 will conduct Open House, Monday Sept. 11 at 7 p.m. at Fair park. All boys interested in learning about the program of Scouting are urged to attend this open house with their parents.

The troop is sponsored by the Lions Club and Glen Overturf and Joe Bickelstaff are scoutmasters.

Trades (ISST), which is attempting to lure skilled workers out of the UAW.

The ISST picketed General Motors plants in Flint and Saginaw last month in an effort to make good its threat to get craftsmen out of the UAW.

Some craftsmen in the UAW have demanded they get one dollar more an hour than non-skilled workers to put their pay in line with that of skilled workmen outside the industry who are represented by craft unions.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, has included special pay increase for skilled workers in what he calls the "longest and most ambitious" list of demands ever made by the union. The Big Three offered to negotiate on the special raise for skilled workers, but the union rejected their entire offer, which includes a 13-cent-an-hour pay increase to be improved at 2.8 per cent a year.

The UAW is also asking for a substantial wage increase, a guaranteed annual income and equal pay for Canadian workers.

The average auto worker now makes $4.70 an hour in wages and fringe benefits. Steel magazine, the weekly metalworking journal, said today that Ford uses about five per cent of the nation's steel output.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN

Dear Helen: She is a young widow with six children, ages three to 12. I am a widower with four kids, the top age, 14.

At first we went around together because we were lonely—we met, naturally, at a Parents Without Partners Club. We figured remarriage wasn't for people with so many young obligations. When we got our two families together for picnics, it was a convention.

Then we realized it was also fun, and we were beginning to get our kids mixed up so that half the time one of hers would be in my car, and one or more of mine in hers.

You guessed it. We want to get married, and it's got to be love, or else neither of us would take on a family of 10. We realize this merger will have problems, but we're already shopping for a home in the country. We both have good jobs and can hire a housekeeper. So far, the children get along fine, even with us.

Do you think we can make it?—CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN

Dear CBTD: Of course you can! Moreover, you'll have enough help-raising experiences to write a book.

Here's for a mini-bus, a maxihouse, a happy home—and no trip-lets!—H.

Dear Helen: When I was in the Army, my fiancée went the Dear John route. She didn't break it to me gently. All I got was her wedding announcement with a note—"I just didn't know how to tell you before."

Well, that letter got me the Bronze Star. I didn't care whether I lived or died for a while, so I got reckless.

Now I'm home, have a good job. I'm dating a girl at the office and we get along great. Just buddies, however.

Yesterday my ex-fiancee called. She's getting a divorce and says the marriage was a bad mistake—she always loved me but I was far away and she was lonely. Today at lunch (she invited herself), she was making plans for our wedding.

I can't get through to her that I don't feel that way any more. Get me out of this!—GONE SOUR

Dear G.S.: For Pete's sake, write her a "Dear Jane" letter. One good turn-deserves another.—H.

Dear Helen: We're summer residents at this beach resort and spend our weekends and holidays here. We are also licensed foster parents and have taken in many kids besides our own three.

Since I am alone out here with three teenagers while my husband works in town, I've allowed our home to become the teen meeting place. There is usually a big group around, all nice well-mannered kids, and if any get out of line, it's settled quickly.

They play games, dance to records, have light refreshments and pop. Sometimes I take a carload to the drive-in. I thoroughly enjoy the young people and they seem to approve of me, as they often bring me their problems. I'm their friend, but I don't intrude, just chaperone.

Helen, would you believe there are parents on this beach-also some kids who do not know me—who made up dirty stories about our girls and me? They can't believe anyone would be nice to teens, just because she likes them, and realizes they need a place to meet other than the streets.

How can I prove otherwise when they won't come and see for themselves?—C.K.

Dear C: If these jealous people won't come and see for themselves, then they certainly can't prove their gossip. So ignore it. Since your house is always overflowing, I'd guess you have most of the town on your side.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star. Copyright, 1967, Inc.

Gamma Globulin Shots Ease Chronic Sore Throat

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother writes that her 7-year-old son has had a series of sore throats with a fever of about 101 degrees since last December. His doctor gives him an antibiotic for about a week each time but four or five days after her son has taken the last pill he gets another sore throat. A history of this sort is seen characteristically in boys with a hereditary deficiency of gamma globulin in their blood.

Since gamma globulin is essential in combating infections, these boys go from one infection into another like a chain smoker lighting one cigarette from another. An injection of gamma globulin helps these youngsters throw off an infection but the effect is not lasting and gamma globulin is very expensive. No permanent cure for the condition—known as agammaglobulinemia—is available.

Q—My son, 6, who is in first grade, uses either hand interchangeably but without any great skill in either hand. He seems to be normal otherwise. How can I tell whether he is immature for his age or has the disease dyslexia, which you described in a recent column?

A—A child psychologist should be able to help you. Meanwhile, you should encourage your son to use his right hand for most movements that require skill unless, since your letter, he has shown a definite preference for his left hand.

Q—Our daughter, 1, has been walking for about six weeks. She has the usual falls of all toddlers but my husband says she falls because I don't put her in high-top shoes. Our doctor has seen her in low shoes and found nothing wrong with her walk-

Cronkite Has Replaced Zenker

NEW YORK (AP) — Remember Arnold Zenker?

Zenker is the previously unknown Columbia Broadcasting System executive who shot to national fame when he replaced
Walter Cronkite on the CBS
Evening News during a television strike in April.

When Cronkite returned, he opened the program by saying,
"Good evening. This is Walter
Cronkite, sitting in for Arnold
Zenker. It's good to be back."

Zenker said he received several job offers after his disappearance from the screen, and calls from several agents. He said he also got some 3,000 letters from fans across the country and in Canada.

Now Zenker, a lawyer from Philadelphia has left CBS and will appear during a 90-minute, early evening news show on
WBZ-TV, a Westinghouse Broadcasting Corp. station in Boston starting Oct. 21.

He'll be on from 7 to 7:30 p.m. with local news, right after the Hamlet-Brinkley show.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Mississippi River carries soil from 31 states to build Louisiana 300 feet farther into the Gulf of Mexico each year, says The World Almanac. This is in contrast to states with ocean coast lines and their problem of ocean-front erosion. The silt-formed delta's waterways make Louisiana first in muskrat trapping.

Newman Day Celebration
TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP)— Residents celebrate "Newman Day" Sept. 20 in honor of John Michael Newman who is enlisting to join his six brothers in the U. S. Navy.

City Commission Chairman Egon Kroll, who issued the proclamation honoring the Kirby Newman family, Twin Falls, said this is the first time in the history of the Navy that seven members of one family have served at one time.

The six older brothers have a total of 49 years of service.

Says Smoking Takes Years Off of Life

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Smoking cigarettes takes years off your life—as much as eight years for the two-pack-a-day man who is now 25 years old, a medical statistician said today.

In fact, the two-packs-a-day or more means that a 25-year-old American male has an average life expectancy of 65.3 years. Yet the average lifetime is 73.6 years for the same young man if he never smoked regularly.

That was the picture drawn by Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, a vice president of the American Cancer Society. The figures were drawn from the society's long-range look at the circumstances and habits of American life for hints to what leads to various causes of death.

Hammond made the comments in a speech prepared for the three-day World Conference on Smoking and Health which opened today.

The society's study covers 447,196 men of all ages. Up to June 30, 1965, over 39,000 enrolled in the study had died.

It showed that even a few cigarettes smoked regularly are harmful, Hammond said.

For the 25-year-old male who smokes up to nine cigarettes a day, the average life expectancy is 69, five years short of the average for non-smokers, Hammond said.

The conference is sponsored by 22 agencies and organizations, representing the federal government and health, professional, and service organizations. Many of the member

Coast Guard Shunned by Negroes

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard is having trouble attracting Negroes into its ranks—particularly at the cadet and officer level.

groups are on the record as condemning cigarette smoking as injurious to health. The council itself is dedicated to spreading information on the hazards of cigarettes and tobacco.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

Jan. 20, 1961, President John F. Kennedy noted there were no Negroes in the Coast Guard Academy's cadet corps. He made his observation known to academy officials, who launched a nationwide recruiting drive at predominantly Negro high schools and colleges.

But the drive was not notably successful. The academy graduated its first Negro, Merle J. Smith of Baltimore, last June. A Guard spokesman said he is now one of five Negroes in the service's officer corps of 3,700.

Five of the academy's 700-plus cadets are Negroes. Nineteen of the Coast Guard's 1,182 warrant officers and 674 of its 30,000 enlisted men are Negroes.

Negro representation is far higher among Coast Guard civilian employees—538 Negroes among 3,170 white-collar workers and 430 among 2,600 other jobholders.

"We've made a greater effort to beat the bushes to get them to apply to the academy," a spokesman said. "But when they've got the know-how and ability to make the grade, they choose other, more lucrative fields."

Unlike the other military service academies, whose cadets are appointed by congressmen, the Coast Guard Academy requires standard college board entrance examinations

Group Favors Change in Picking Judges

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A committee to lower the legal voting age in Arkansas from 21 to 18 has been formed by the Young Republican League of Arkansas and the Young Democratic Clubs of Arkansas.

Ed Allison, state chairman of the Republican organization, and Roy Lee Hight, state president of the Democratic group, jointly announced formation of the committee Saturday.

"Arkansas' young people have shown their maturity and concern for Arkansas' future in many ways," Hight said. "We think it's important that we give Arkansas youth the voice in their government they have shown themselves ready for," Allison said.

Proved Point
President Washington's action in stopping the Whisky Rebellion in Pennsylvania proved that the new federal government could collect the taxes it levied and that it could enforce the laws it passed.

Substitute for Gasoline Auto Is Not Electric

In these times when gasoline-powered automobiles are suspected of being a major cause of air pollution in our crowded cities transportation engineers are studying alternatives for the internal-combustion engine—perhaps with the hope of reviving the electric car which had a vogue around 1900.

The current number of The Humble Way, issued quarterly by Humble Oil & Refining Co., discusses fairly and in detail the prospects for revival of the "electric"—and comes up with a conclusion most of us oldsters already knew: There has been no real breakthrough in the problem posed by the electric storage battery—and until there is such a breakthrough no electric car is going to replace the gasoline vehicle for general purposes.

The Humble magazine does make one point I hadn't considered. It reports that if electric automobiles did actually replace the gas-powered variety the electric power required to charge mobile batteries would be 50 per cent more than the present total output of the U.S. electric industry. But in view of the electric car's other shortcomings this handicap is purely hypothetical.

Here's what's wrong with the electric car in 1967, just as in 1900:

The electric storage battery is heavy and expensive, has to be replaced several times in the life of the car, has limited acceleration and speed, and—worst of all—has almost no driving range compared to the gas-powered auto.

The 1900 brand electric car used lead-and-acid batteries, had slow pickup and speed, and a range of only 20 to 30 miles. The 1967 experimental versions have increased acceleration and speed, but their new and prohibitively costly batteries still give them a range of only 40 to 80 miles compared to 250 for the gas-powered auto.

Humble cites the case of General Motors' electric prototype which uses silver-zinc batteries costing $15,000 that have to be replaced after 100 charges.

Ford is experimenting with a sodium-sulphur battery but this also has formidable handicaps. The battery requires $1,200 worth of silver in its manufacture, has to be maintained at a temperature of 500 degrees Fahrenheit for satisfactory operation, "and if the battery were cracked open in an accident the components could produce a very intense fire as they reacted," so The Humble Way reports.

It is the oil journal's verdict that there may be a market for electric cars for suburban shopping and school use—but not for the open road—and to my personal knowledge this judgment is correct. For as a boy I rode in neighbors' Baker electrics, was familiar with their shortcomings—and today's engineering reports show virtually none of those handicaps has been overcome.

If there is ever to be a substitute for the gasoline car, because of air pollution, I imagine the best bet would be a steamer. It has some handicaps, but it will outrun and outrange any stock gas car ever built. I knew steamers as a boy, and once even drove a neighbor's Stanley for a piece.

We'll discuss the steam car tomorrow.

THEATER NOTE

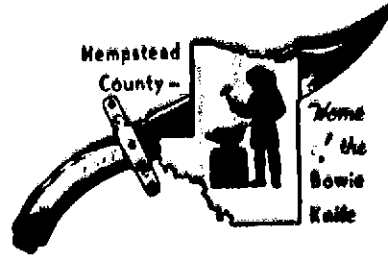

The Pulitzer-prize-winning Broadway play, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," is on the Saenger screen this Monday night for the last time. It is a superb musical comedy spoof on Big Business, starring the old crooner Rudy Vallee, Robert Morse, and Michele Lee. It's exciting, tuneful—and clean.

Men's Hairpieces Are a Big Business, Some $7.5 Million Annually

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Nine out of 10 U.S. men who wear toupees — now a $7.5-million industry — say they do so because it's important in their business to look younger. The hairpieces cost $300 up, last for three to four years.

Plankton, the basic food stuff of the sea, has more nutritive value than a pound of beefsteak. It keeps whales healthy and would do the same for people if science could find a way to harvest it economically.

There's also enough gold in the sea to make every man on earth a millionaire — if it could only be mined cheaply. It is estimated that the sea's waters hold in suspension 10 billion tons of gold—about 100,000 times as much as has ever been taken from the earth.

Your child's intelligence quotient isn't a fixed thing. It can shrink or grow. Studies have shown that the quality of a child's home life can make a difference of 25 points in his IQ—and whether he goes to a good or bad school can make a difference of 10 points.

Why do people grow old and die? One theory is that the human body in time simply becomes allergic to itself. The body begins to reject the new cells it creates to replenish the worn cells, and this process gradually weakens and kills it.

BILL ROUTON

Bill Routon of the City Planning Commission told the Hope Rotary Club the history of the commission, its purpose and function in our community, at the Rotary Club luncheon meeting last Friday. Organized in 1958, the Planning Commission established zoning in Hope in August 1960. It is the function of the group to supervise and direct the orderly operation of many civic phases of living using city money matched by federal funds.

A Land Use Plan, a Master Street Plan, and a Zoning Plan are all part of the commission's work. It is a recommending body which takes suggestions and requests to the City Board of Directors, and there is always a sound reason behind commission decisions. Constructive criticism is always welcome from the citizens of Hope, and the commission meets every second Tuesday of each month.

A question and answer period followed the talk and delved into more information about heavy duty streets, access roads, and the problem of drainage and storm sewers. Arch Wylie, chairman of the commission, was a club guest, and Webb Laseter was the program chairman and introduced the speaker.

President Clyde Fouse announced that the District Governor would be in Hope on October 6 and urged a good attendance for that meeting. John Hawkins of Texarkana was a visiting Rotarian, and Charles Ward, a student at Hope High was a guest.

Farm Bureau Groups to Meet Here

Delegations from Southwest Arkansas county Farm Bureaus will convene Thursday night at Hope to discuss developments in farm affairs and map procedures for involving farmers in Farm Bureau policy deliberations.

The local organizations' officers and policy committees will meet at 7:30 p.m. at Town and Country Restaurant.

State and national issues related to agriculture will be discussed by H. W. Robertson of Little Rock, director of field services for Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation.

Ideas on encouraging large number of farmers to participate in policy formulation will be presented by E. A. Hansen of Little Rock, district agent with the Agricultural Extension Service.

Also participating will be Randolph Webb of Mineral Springs, state Farm Bureau board member; and H. T. Baber of Arkadelphia, Farm Bureau district director of field services.

Policy discussions will continue through county Farm Bureau district director of field services.

Policy discussions will continue through county Farm Bureau conventions this fall and culminate in state and national Farm Bureau meetings in November and December.

12 Arrested in Pulaski Gaming Raids

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Police arrested 12 persons Saturday after raiding 10 alleged gambling places and one club in Pulaski County.

Each of the 12 was charged with keeping a gambling house, a felony. Each posted $100 bond.

State Police Director Lynn Davis said three truck loads of gambling equipment were seized at the Westwood Club. K. Baggey Levine, the club's owner, was among those arrested. Davis said total worth of the equipment was about $20,000.

The other places raided were private residences. Five were in the Pulaski County rural area and the other five in North Little Rock.

Authorities said as much as $8,300 in cash was confiscated at one residence. Racing forms, telephones, betting slips, duplicating equipment and dice also were seized.

Whites in Flareup in Milwaukee

By KEN HARTNETT

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Hundreds of residents of the virtually all-white South Side were scattered by repeated rounds of police tear gas Sunday night in a near riotous aftermath to a Negro open housing march.

"Let's go to the North Side," shouted South Side youths milling along what they mistakenly believed would be the route of the Negro marchers. "North North!"

Police, who tried to persuade the throngs to disperse were pelted with wood, bottles and bricks. They retaliated with tear gas firing down residential streets after whites who retreated there.

The 2,500 marchers, who had taken a different route through the South Side in a 14th straight day of demonstrations, were already back at their headquarters in the nearly all-Negro North Side when the white uprising started. Nineteen persons were arrested and three were injured before it was over. Only minor incidents had occurred during the open housing march, held under heavy police guard.

After a series of tear gas attacks, about 500 youths finally formed a parade line. Police allowed half the group to move all the way across a viaduct leading out of the South Side. At the end of the viaduct, police stopped the march cold with a show of force, and persuasion.

The Negro marchers had just disappeared over the viaduct after the largest civil rights demonstration in the city's history when the trouble flared along a South Side business street about two miles away.

Residents refused at first to believe police assertions that the Negro marchers were not coming "through their neighborhood." "Listen to your radios if you don't believe me," one officer said. "They're back on the North Side."

Fire crackers began to explode. The crowd took up the chant, "We want Groppi," a reference to the white Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. James E. Groppi, who is leading the Negro demonstrations. Father Groppi, son of Italian immigrants, was born and raised on the South Side.

Rocks flew toward police. Squads of officers in gas masks rushed forward and began firing tear gas canisters inside the crowd.

$158,805 for Two County Districts

Two school districts in Hempstead County received final approval this week for funds amounting to $158,805.00 under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act for 1967-68.

Associate Commissioner W. H. Moore, who is in charge of Federal Programs for the State Department of Education, has announced. Projects for other districts in the county have not yet been processed, he said.

The following districts and the amounts which they received are: Hope $153,536.00

Palmos 5,269.00

Moore said that the approved allocations for the districts in Hempstead County was based on the number of economically disadvantaged children in the District. The money is used for medical, supplementary and personal services as needed by the individual child to help him overcome learning handicaps so that he may achieve at a normal level.

Arkansas is receiving $20,201,473 under Title I this year to be distributed among the state's 387 eligible districts.

Hempstead County also received $5,275.00 under Title II for library materials, Moore said. The amounts for the separate districts are:

Hope $5,065.00

Palmos 210.00

This money is allocated on a formula based on enumeration, relative need and self-effort and may be spent for books, magazines, film strips, recordings, globes, maps, charts and printed material, he added.

Thieu Says the Heavy Fighting Should Be Left Up to U.S. Forces

Hope Woman Involved in Abduction

TEXARKANA — A search was continued Sunday for a young Negro man who reportedly took a 20-year-old Hope, Ark., woman from a parked car at gun point near Interstate 30 Saturday night and tried to molest her.

Bowle County Sheriff C. C. Rachel said the girl and a 22-year-old Texarkana man were parked on a dead end access road between Summerhill Road and Richmond Road about 11 p.m. Saturday when a young Negro approached the car from the passenger's side.

The man told police the girl was sitting under the steering wheel and he was sitting by the door on the right side of the car when he noticed a flash in the window.

He said he saw a Negro man with a small camera. He told officers the Negro stuck a pistol in the window and told him to get out of the car.

According to the man, the Negro made him walk to the rear and put his hands on the back of the car. The Negro asked if there was anyone else in the car other than the girl and he said no.

The Negro reportedly forced the man to get the woman out of the car. The man said the Negro grabbed her by the arm and made him open the trunk and throw out the spare tire.

The man was forced at gun point to get in the trunk and the lid was closed.

Rachel said the man heard the girl scream and he tore through the rear of the car, a convertible, to the back seat.

Rachel said the man climbed over into the front seat and drove to Summerhill Road at the city limits where he flagged down Texas Police officer Freddie Sanders and Jessie Estes.

The woman told Rachel that after the Negro locked her companion in the trunk, he pulled her into a wooded area near the car and ripped off most of her clothing.

She said when the Negro heard the car start, he became scared. She told Rachel the Negro said he was going to kill the man.

As the car drove off, the Negro pulled the girl across Interstate 30 to a wooded area inside the city limits.

The Negro allegedly crouched in the grass for several minutes and watched police cars cruising in the area.

The woman told Rachel she asked the Negro if he still had his gun and he said he had dropped it. The woman said a few moments later the Negro turned to look at the headlights on a passing car and she ran into the woods.

She said the Negro chased her for several yards then disappeared.

Enemy Port of Cam Pha Knocked Out

NEW YORK (AP) — American troops should handle most of the heavy fighting in Vietnam, says South Vietnam's President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu, and South Vietnamese forces will pacify the countryside.

Thieu also said he would ask Hanoi to open peace negotiations and would suggest a pause in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam if Hanoi responded to the peace feeler. He made the statements on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press" which was recorded in Saigon Friday. He won the presidency in the Sept. 3 elections.

On the CBS radio-television show "Face the Nation" U.S. Ambassador to Saigon Ellsworth Bunker said he saw a possibility of negotiations in the Vietnam war before next year's U.S. presidential election.

Although declining to predict when the war might end, Bunker said: "I think we are now beginning to see the light."

Enemy Port of Cam Pha Knocked Out

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy planes delivered a smashing blow Sunday at Cam Pha in North Vietnam and pilots reported they all but knocked out that port, used to export coal to play for arms from abroad. It was the first raid on Cam Pha, previously on the Pentagon's restricted list.

Aground, U.S. Marines outnumbered 4 to 1 beat back 3,000 North Vietnamese who apparently were trying to cut off their supply base at Con Thien near the demilitarized zone. The U.S. Command said at least 141 enemy troops were killed. Marine losses were 34 killed and 185 wounded.

South Vietnamese troops also were heavily engaged Sunday in the northern area. They reported killing 70 Communist troops. The Reds replied early today with a mortar and ground attack on the provincial capital of Hoi An, three district headquarters and five militia outposts.

Until the raid Sunday, the port of Cam Pha north of the main major one at Haiphong, had been immune from attack although antiaircraft sites on its outskirts were blasted in June. That was when pilots straggled the Soviet merchant ship Turkistan in Cam Pha harbor.

Striking deep into North Vietnam, Air Forces planes ran into MIG-17s. One Communist jet was probably downed by an F105 Thunderchief pilot, who said it flipped over and vanished after his cannon fire ripped into its wings.

The battle between Marines and North Vietnamese in the north was one of almost daily engagements since last Monday.

Many Mentally Retarded

Can Be Helped

Mentally retarded children can be helped. While these children may seem hopeless to many, care, concern and patience has produced very encouraging results. The Arkansas Children's Colony is proof of this. Each year many children are discharged from the Colony, able to walk or talk better than when they entered. Some are able to take their place within their own family, as a person who is no longer a complete burden. He may now be able to talk, to learn limited things, to perform simple household tasks. The child has developed pride and is eager to take his place. In many instances retarded children in the Colony have even been taught a trade and then return home as a working, earning young adult who makes his way in society. The Arkansas Children's Colony can only accommodate 10 percent of the states retarded children. How about the other 90 percent, many of whom are here in Southwest Arkansas? They and their parents need help . . . special classes, speech training and physical therapy are a few of the things other communities are doing on the local level and it can be done here if only we will show we care by aiding with the formation of a strong local chapter.

On Thursday, September 14th at 7:30 p.m. the Hempstead County Association of Retarded Children will meet at the City Hall. This group has organized with the sincere desire to work for the aid of mentally retarded in Hempstead County and cordially invite anyone with a similar interest to join in this effort. The speaker of the evening will be Mr. Herschel Moore from Little Rock who is the Director of the Elementary and Secondary Education Acts with the State Department of Education. This is the federal aid to education which presently has five titles dealing with five different areas of assistance to public education. Mr. Moore will be discussing the areas of responsibility for the education of school age educable and trainable children and the availability of federal funds and state funds for implementing special education classes. Mr. Sam Sanders, Director of Ark. Assoc. for retarded children will also be present to answer questions.
